Wishing you a Happy and Healthy Holiday Season!

We have just crossed over the threshold of Winter Solstice on our annual journey from darkness into Light. From now until the Solar New Year which begins on February 4th, 2010, we are in a period of flux as one cycle winds down and another is birthed. During this transition, major shifts in our Planet's light and energy occur as matter rearranges itself.

This mutable phase is the perfect time to get your home and businesses prepared for the Year of the Metal Wood Tiger which arrives on the Lunar New Year, February, 14th, 2010.

Tai Sui, "the Minister of Time" or as he is frequently called "the Grand Duke of Jupiter" is in the Northeast again, but this year is located where the tiger resides - 322.5° - 337.5° . (For an understanding of Tai Sui, see the December 2007 article on my website - www.invisiblearchitecture.com.) It is important to keep this area quiet and to avoid any construction or digging if possible. The Grand Duke does not like to be disturbed!

Sui Po, the "year breaker," occupies the direction directly opposite the Grand Duke. It is in the sign of the monkey - southwest (232.5° - 247.5° .) One should avoid construction or digging in this direction also this year. In 2010, people born in the year of the monkey (since this sign is directly opposite the tiger) will be in a "clash" with the tiger. This can bring turbulence, accidents or changes. They should expect a lot of movement in their life such as a change of job, residence etc.

In next month's newsletter, I will do an in depth analysis of the coming Tiger energies.
