YEAR OF THE WHITE METAL RABBIT 2011

The Chinese Lunar New Year began on Feb.3, 2011 and the Solar New Year began Feb. 4, 2011, the beginning of Spring (Li-chun.) Feng Shui is based on the Solar Year, so this newsletter is only one day late and contains a lot of important information!! The heavenly and earthly energies continually move and it is important to know where the Tai Sui, Sui Po, Sans Sha and "Evil Yellow number 5" energies are located in 2011, so steps can be taken to avoid and or cure them. I am also sending Master Yang's "Avoidance Days" which are unfortunately better known as the "Killing Days." Many have said they are amazed how accurate these dates are.

According to Chinese custom, a new ruler, named the "Grand Duke of Jupiter," comes each year. He is also called Tai Sui or the "Minister of Time." The Chinese zodiac is based on Jupiter cycles and the Grand Duke personifies the Jupiter Year in the Celestial Ministry. Tai Sui literally means the Great Year, the Jupiter Year, the 12 year sidereal period which the planet takes to travel around the sun. Each year as the "shadow " of Jupiter passes over the Earth like a wave and darkens the direction of the "animal" of the year (ox, tiger, rabbit etc.), the location of "the Grand Duke of Jupiter" is revealed. For 2011, the Grand Duke is General "Fan Ning" and he resides in the House of the Rabbit which is in the East 82.5 - 97.5 degrees.

If your house faces these degrees, it is considered to be clashing with the Grand Duke. You may experience accidents, obstacles or lose of wealth. The cure is to minimize movements such as construction or digging in this direction and to put a talisman of the Grand Duke here. (I provide one with your annual reading.) He does not like to be disturbed!!

If your house faces West, you are lucky! It has the support of the Grand Duke. You will do better in business ventures and competition.

For 2011, People who are rabbits, roosters, or rats are considered "violating the Grand Duke".

- 1. People born in the year of the rabbit are considered " on duty" with the Grand Duke. (1939, 1951, 1963, 1975, 1987, 1999.) The symptoms may be minor sickness, feeling emotionally unbalanced and/ or minor misfortunes.
- 2. People born in the year of the rooster are "chong" or clashing the Grand Duke. (1933, 1945, 1957, 1969, 1981, 1993). This is the most serious Grand Duke violation and may cause:
career changes (promotion or demotion), moving, frequent travels, major monetary losses or bankruptcy, death in the family, major sickness/ surgery, accidents or death.
- 3. People born in the year of the rat penalize the Grand Duke (1924, 1936, 1948, 1960, 1972, 1984, 1996.) Penalizing is less severe than clashing with the Grand Duke. However the rat/rabbit penalty is one of the infamous "Three Penalties" in 4-Pillars of Destiny. The rabbit/rat penalty normally jinxes the close relatives of the person involved.

Sui Po is directly opposite the Grand Duke in the West. Sui Po generally doesn't create any problems until it is disturbed by such things as renovations, repairs, construction, digging of earth. Any form of earth works is to be avoided in the Western sector.

San Sha or 3-killings are in the West from 247.5 - 292.5 degrees. Disturbing the San Sha can cause betrayal, robbery, and loss of money, injuries, illnesses and fatalities. The effects vary - ranging from a small amount of money loss to bankruptcy or a common flu to major illness. Avoid digging, construction, or any form of earth works in the Sans Sha area. The ancient texts mention that it is acceptable to have the front of your house facing San Sha, (West). Facing West is very good this year because you also have the support of the Grand Duke.

"5-yellow evil star" flies to the East palace this year, exactly where the Grand Duke is sitting - Putting them together for 2011! The "5 star" is earth and as Fire produces Earth, do not put anything yellow or red or burn anything in this area. So...be very careful when you do any construction and or other movement here, especially movement of Earth.
